Caverion renovates the headquarters of the Austrian Insurance Fund for Civil or Public Servants in Austria

Caverion has entered into a contract with Austrian Insurance Fund for Civil or Public Servants (BVA) to renovate its headquarters in Vienna, Austria.

Caverion was awarded a contract for the refurbishment and modernisation of the entire building services and the associated building facilities of the Austrian Insurance Fund for Civil or Public Servants headquarters. The technical systems required for the renovation, like Building Management System, Heating & Sanitation, Cooling, Ventilation, and Electricity, are implemented by Caverion experts from various competence centres and regions. The value of the contract is not disclosed.

After the renovation, the Austrian Insurance Fund for Civil or Public Servants headquarters will have geothermal pumps with both heat and cooling technologies to provide heating in winter and cooling in summer time.

"Our challenge is to ensure undisturbed customer operations during the 14 months of renovation work and to ensure continued office operations for the employees of Austrian Insurance Fund for Civil or Public Servants," says Manfred Simmet, Senior Vice President & CEO of Caverion Austria.

"We are already looking forward to the results today and greatly value the smooth flow of the renovation work," added Michael Gaspar, Project Manager of Austrian Insurance Fund for Civil or Public Servants.

The Austrian Insurance Fund for Civil or Public Servants belongs to Caverion's Public Sector client segment. Find out more about our services for Public Sector client projects.
